Welcome to Scottish SPCA Animal WISE!

For many years, the Scottish SPCA has been delivering FREE workshops in primary schools across Scotland, and as educational strategies have changed, we are keen to do even more to support and inspire the next generation.

We want to support every school in Scotland as a key partner, and not just through delivery of one-off annual workshops. We want to support children's health and wellbeing; enhance their skills when it comes to literacy and numeracy; offer innovative ways to engage with STEM and inspire future career pathways.

By working together, we believe we can support schools in Scotland to nurture empathy, compassion and a greater sense of appreciation for animal welfare in Scotland.

What is Animal WISE?

We want to provide unique opportunities that empower pupils to be pioneers within their schools and have a positive impact on the wider community. Animal WISE encourages pupils of all ages and abilities to work together, increase their knowledge and awareness of animal welfare and be inspired to make a difference through engaging with various educational activities.

Animal WISE has four key components:

WATCH

We need to WATCH interactions between humans and animals making sure everyone is kept safe. We need to increase childrens knowledge of animal welfare and encourage them to be responsible animal citizens.

INFORM

We want to INFORM children that animals matter and instil the belief that they experience emotions and they deserve compassion and empathy.

SUPPORT

We want to SUPPORT children to help teach the importance of animal welfare and being a responsible citizen, taking into account developmental stage. We also want to support those who are maybe showing behaviours towards animals that are a cause of concern and work together with others to ensure that that child has the opportunities to succeed.

ENCOURAGE

We want to ENCOURAGE children to tell an adult if they have concerns about an animal and encourage them to ask questions, express themselves and develop their inquisitive minds in order to test their knowledge as well as ours.

How can primary schools get involved?

Introducing Martha and Gibson

Animal WISE features two new mascots; Martha our Scottish SPCA inspector and Gibson, one of our rescue dogs.

Martha and Gibson have already featured in our Adventure Tails resource packs (which you can find online, check out the link below!) and will continue appearing in exciting new projects such as e-learning and in the near future a book series. This series will help build children's vocabulary whilst also uniquely connecting animal welfare with key milestones within the child's life.

Martha and Gibson are effective when used as part of our learning strategy in engaging a young audience and making them more comfortable and receptive to what they are learning.

FREE Workshops and Resources

Primary 1 – 3

For our youngest minds, we supply the class teacher with resources so they can deliver an interactive and fun teacher led workshop where pupils will learn all about a specific animal, their needs, behaviours and how they should be correctly handled and looked after. Our Happy Hamsters programme has already proven to be very popular. There is lots to learn before welcoming even a small animal into your family and all too frequently these pets aren't cared for appropriately.

Alongside this teacher led workshop, we also offer a short chat for our younger audience from one of our education team which usually lasts around 20-30 minutes and also allows time for any questions.

Primary 4 – 7

We have taken a unique approach in teaching animal welfare in the classroom which links perfectly with STEM.

Through our partnership with RoboWunderkind we now use robotics as a way of engaging children and creating that understanding of animal behavior, reactions and emotions. We have four animal robot mascots: Caitlyn the chicken, Campbell the cat, Oscar the owl and Rhu the rabbit.

Children are encouraged to think about how animals have amazing skills to help them survive and how the environment they live in can affect the way they behave and their wellbeing. We want to educate on the importance of understanding an animal's needs, taking proper care of them and how to identify if an animal is in need of help. Through the use of coding we inspire critical thinking skills on how to determine an animal's reaction and emotional state and the value of treating animals with compassion.

Alongside the robotics we use game based activities to expand children's knowledge on the vast array of animals and habitats within Scotland incorporating pets, farm animals and wildlife.

Workshops are booked in one hour slots and this includes time for a short video and any questions the pupils may have.

Animal Adventures

BRAND NEW FOR 2021!

2021 welcomes an exciting new addition to our AnimalWISE programme, Animal Adventures!

If you have a class full of budding outdoor explorers, this workshop will get them up out of the classroom and on an adventure as an Animal Rescue Officer to seek out the animals in need hidden around the playground. Using an interactive tool on touchpads they will discover interesting facts about the animals we have in Scotland and, in groups, investigate ways in which to help our wildlife.

Pupils will also explore the needs and emotions of animals and how they can experience pain, fear and happiness just like us by coding animal robot reactions to real life scenarios, all in the outdoor setting of the school grounds.

Animal Adventures also adheres to ongoing coronavirus restrictions, allowing us to continue to visit and engage with your school without being in the classroom.

Please be assured we work to strict Covid-19 protocols whilst participating in any outdoor workshop and are happy to send through our risk assessments for your attention.

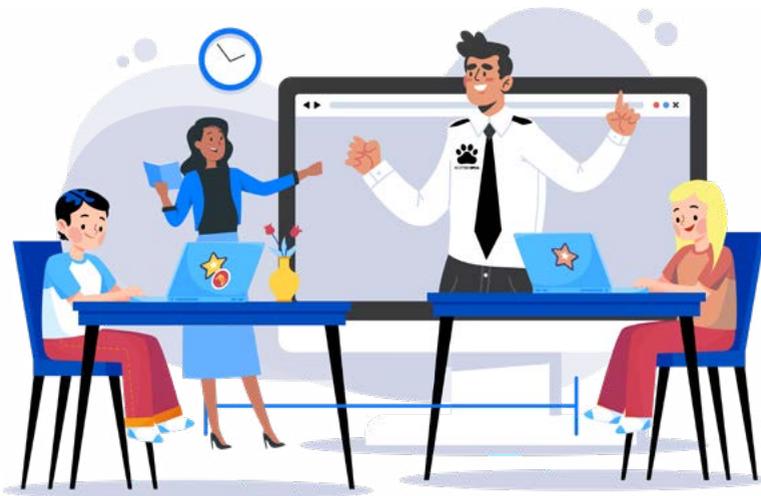

E-learning

We want to make sure that our engagement with pupils is ongoing, which is why we have introduced an exciting new digital platform. You can use this platform to prepare for our upcoming visit and pupils can continue to learn about the Scottish SPCA and animal welfare after their workshop. Our e-learning experience will include a mixture of interactive games, quizzes, videos and virtual tours will ensure fun, engaging learning to expand knowledge on animal welfare.

Our E-learning modules cover a variety of topics which include:

-  Getting to know your Scottish SPCA
-  Animal emotions
-  Animal needs
-  Animals in Scotland
-  Animal habitats
-  How to be Animal WISE

Animal Guardians

In 2018 we launched our pioneering Animal Guardians programme, which involves us working with children on an individual basis who may be struggling with showing empathy and compassion towards animals. If not addressed, this can lead to either the child or the animal being hurt.

Our fun, game-based sessions are designed to help nurture a child's relationship with animals, encourage that recognition of both human and animal emotions and ultimately ensure they act safely around their own pets or animals they encounter out with the home. We also run events during the school holidays as a way of staying in touch with all those who have been part of the Animal Guardians programme.

A child can be referred on to the FREE programme by anyone that is directly involved with their care, for example parents/carers, teachers, social workers etc.

For more information or to make a referral please visit scottishspca.org/animal-wise or email animalguardians@scottishspca.org.

Developing the Young Workforce

We have worked hard to ensure that our authentic learning opportunities for children tie in with many areas of the Curriculum for Excellence. We want children to have positive learning experiences whilst obtaining vital skills to enable them to become successful learners, confident individuals, effective and responsible citizens.

We want to inspire children to build careers within the animal sector and to gain the relevant skills and knowledge to prepare them for the future and the world of work.

Through engaging with all of the activities the Scottish SPCA has to offer, pupils are given the opportunity to develop:

-  Self-awareness.
-  Respect for animals and people.
-  Skills of enquiry and critical thinking and the ability to apply these to animal welfare issues.
-  The ability to communicate in different ways and settings.
-  An appreciation of a wide range of animals found in Scotland and their environment.
-  A sense of injustice and a commitment to tackling it.
-  A desire to protect our environment.
-  Empathy and compassion.
-  Belief that animals are sentient beings.
-  Skills in problem solving.
-  Creativity.
-  Enterprise opportunities.
-  An understanding of the link between animal and human health and wellbeing.

Have fun with us

At the Scottish SPCA we want to involve children as much as possible in thinking and talking about animal welfare whilst also having fun! That is why we regularly run exciting school competitions where individual pupils, classes or whole schools can take part.

Past competitions have included:

-  Photography
-  Logo designing
-  Campaign posters
-  A film competition asking Scotland's classrooms to create short videos highlighting two of our biggest challenges – animals being injured by litter and the illegal puppy farm trade.
